

In my dissertation to develop a prompt module to improve the code quality of students, I use a combination of qualitative and quantitative research methods. To collect data about problems in the code, I collect data from the platform, then I analyse the obtained data using statistical methods to identify the most important aspects that the hint module should cover. This multidimensional approach allows me to develop targeted and effective solutions that can actually improve the code quality of students.